March 22, 2017

Dear Scott and Sean:

I am writing in response to your March 8, 2017 search term proposal to Dubai Islamic Bank (“DIB”) and previous related communications regarding our efforts to reach agreement on a search term protocol.

As you know, following the February 9, 2017 meet and confer, DIB agreed to search for 150 additional names of alleged members of al Qaeda on a UN or OFAC list or for terms of co-defendants with no standing objections, totaling 582 terms. See Attachment A, E-Mail from S. Cottreau to S. Carter (Feb. 9, 2017). We appreciate your efforts to narrow your initial search term list and, for the sake of compromise, we are willing to accept many of the terms you propose.

We, however, believe 114 of the proposed terms in your March 8, 2017 remain at issue between the parties. We believe those terms are objectionable for the reasons set forth in our prior correspondence, including but not limited to their exceeding the scope of Judge Maas’s order, and the fact that they are overly broad, unduly burdensome, and not relevant to a claim or defense of any party. Those terms fall into three categories.

First, DIB maintains standing objections to 16 terms on plaintiffs’ revised list:

1. Special Chechen Refugees Assistance Fund
2. International Islamic Relief Organization
3. International Islamic Charity Organization
4. Nablus Zakat Committee
5. Al Fujairah Charity International
6. Emirates Red Crescent
7. Al Ihsan Charitable Society
8. Dar al Bir Society

13. Abu Ubaidah al Banshiri

Second, plaintiffs' list includes 52 terms that are unduly burdensome and not relevant to a claim or defense of any party, attached hereto at Appendix A. After conducting an investigation of information available in the public domain, we were unable to determine the relevance of these terms.

Third, in the spirit of compromise, DIB would be willing to search for the 46 remaining terms at issue. In total, DIB is willing to search for 618 terms—118 terms over the limit imposed by Judge Maas. These terms are listed in Appendix B. As we previously agreed, DIB will “search for exact matches on the search term in the full name accountholder field in DIB’s electronic account record keeping system,” Dkt. 3057, Ex. 3 at 3-4, and in the event that there is a match, DIB will produce “account opening documentation, complete account statements, and any electronic transaction data that exists in its primary legacy account record keeping system” from January 1, 1992 “through 12/31/2004.” Tr. at 59; 60.

Please let us know if you can accept this proposal.

Sincerely,

Katie Barlow
